Victor Cohn

"I met Victor Cohn in 2012 when he stepped forward to help me carve an ox yoke from a 2,000-pound log. Victor was generous with his time and a good friend. When I met Victor, I did not know he was a magician, and he did not know I was a magician. When I saw him at Ring 313 we were both surprised. Victor and I had another mutual friend who was a woodworker but not a magician. The three of us made a good team working on the log."
